The committee of the Fair association of Union county are a busy bunch these days with the work of preparation patches, follow: tion for their big carnival next week. The Barkoot Carnival company, which now ranks among the three largest carnival aggregations in the country-has been secured for their attraction and the committee consider themselves fortunate in being able to secure it.

The Barkoot company needs no introduction to the people of Union, but when it is considered that since its last appearance here, the equipment has more than doubled in size, with the same high standard maintained, both a shibitions and personner, it may be said that Union is destined to may be said that Union is destined to receive a big surprise next Sunday when their big train rolls in on the Southern. The train is composed of 22 double length cars, which are required to transport the mammoth enterprise and the 300 people connected with it. Its appearance will compare favorably with many of the circus favorably with many of the circus still afloat late tonight. Passengers trains which visit us, and the same and crew, numbering about 140, were provided to unload and

This band will give concerts twice daily on the streets and it is safe to predict that they will prove a pop-ular feature before the week is old.

TO TEMPORARY QUARTERS. The Edisonia Theatre has moved into temporary quarters next door to Flynn-Vincent Shoe company, having made the move without interrupting the service a single day. It will require some two or three months to get the quarters formerly occupied remodeled, but when that is done the building will have a seating capacit, of some 600, and will be a modern and convenient theatre. The audi-torium will be made up of the room formerly so occupied, built several feet longer and the space in the rear of the store room east of the old auditorium. The building will have a Stephano, of the Red Cross Line, how-width of about 50 feet and a depth ever, was caught outside the neutral of about a hundred. Just in front of the section to be added to the was perhaps the biggest prize of the auditorium is the new store room which will be occupied by Tinsley's jewelry store. Four British, one Dutch and one Norwegian steamer were sent to the bottom or left crippled derelicts off Nantucket shoals.

Tonight, under the light of the hunter's moon, the destroyer flotilla of the United States Atlantic fleet was picking up passengers and crews of the destroyed vessels and bringing them into Newport, R. I.

So far as known there was no loss of life, though at a late hour the crew of the British steamer Kingston had not been accounted for.

A submarine held up the American steamer Kansan, bound from New York for Genoa with steel for the Italian government, but later, on establishing her identity, allowed her to proceed. The Kansan came into Boston harbor late tonight for her usual

The sensation created yesterday when the U-53 quietly slipped into Newport harbor and as quietly slipped away three hours later, was less than the shock in shipping circles when wireless report of submarine attacks began to come into the naval radio stations just before day today.

Air Filled With Warnings.
Within a few minutes the air was literally charged with electricity as wireless messages of warning were broadcasted along the coast.

The submarine, or submarines, had taken a position directly in the steamer lanes where they could hardly miss anything bound in for New York, or bound east from that point. Vessels of the Entente Allied nations and neutral bottoms carrying contraband of war scurried to get within the three-mile limit of the American shore. Several that were following the outside course shifted and made for the inside lane. The ever, was caught outside the neutral zone. The destruction of this vessel
